

Here you go — a polished, brand-aligned Cannibisters Klaviyo Brand Voice Guideline you can slot directly into Klaviyo’s account settings, templates, and flows.

It follows your tone, your positioning as a premium Cape Town cannabis club, and the language/style used in your official documents while keeping everything compliant with SA cannabis + email rules.

Cannibisters Klaviyo Brand Voice Guidelines

1. Core Voice

Cannibisters speaks in a modern, elevated, warm and welcoming tone — refined, but never stiff.

Think: premium hospitality meets Cape Town cool. A second-home for members.

Keywords to embody:

Warm, polished, calming, social, premium, community-driven, discreet, stylish, forward-thinking.

2. The Brand Personality

✓ Modern & elevated:

Professional, clean and confident — never slangy or messy.

✓ Relaxed “second-home” warmth:

Emails should feel like talking to the staff at Regent Road — familiar, calm, and inviting.

✓ Knowledgeable, never preachy:

We guide members with clarity and confidence, not pressure.

✓ Community-first:

Highlight belonging, shared experiences, and member benefits. Our club is a private, safe, responsible space for adults.

✓ Compliant:

No claims, no medical promises, no open promotion of illegal use. Keep everything framed as members-only, private, responsible, and within the Cannibisters Club model.

3. Writing Style

Tone:

- Calm
- Minimalist
- Confident
- Friendly
- Upmarket

Sentence style:

- Short, intentional lines
- Never overcrowded
- Avoid exclamation marks
- Use UK English

Examples:

- “Your next drop is live.”
  - “A fresh arrival has just landed in the Club.”
  - “Here’s what’s waiting for you today.”

4. Words We Use (and Don’t Use)

Use:

Member, members-only, private, curated, premium, fresh, refined, drop, arrival, exclusive, your Club, discreet, safe, responsible, community, modern, crafted, flavours, strains.

Avoid:

- Slang (stoner language — “blaze”, “lit”, “dank”, etc.)
  - Over-promising words: “guaranteed”, “heals”, “medical miracles”
  - Direct consumption encouragement
  - Sales-y pushy phrasing

5. Structural Style for Klaviyo Emails

Emails should feel spacious, elegant and easy to skim.

Always include:

- A strong, concise header
- Short intro sentence
- One clear CTA
- A clean sign-off (“The Cannibisters Team”)

Formatting tone:

- Use short paragraphs (1–2 lines)
  - Use soft separators or spacing
  - Emojis: minimal, tasteful, relevant (🌿, ✨, 🔥 can work — but sparingly)
  - Consistent use of “Cannibisters Herbal Apothecary” or simply “Cannibisters” depending on context

6. Messaging Pillars (What Every Email Should Reinforce)

All messages should align with the Club’s core identity, consistent with your proposals and membership documents :

1. Premium, safe and responsible private cannabis culture

Position Cannibisters as high-end and lawful within South Africa’s private club framework.

2. Community & belonging

You’re speaking to members, not customers.

Phrases like:

- “Your Club”
- “For our members”
- “Welcoming you in”

3. Quality & curation

Highlight craftsmanship, flavour notes, new drops, limited strains, and curated offerings.

4. Calm confidence

Never too hyped. Always collected and elegant.

7. Voice Examples: DO & DON'T

DO

“A new curated drop has arrived — crafted for those who enjoy the finer details. Available in-store and online for members only.”

DON'T

“Insane new strains just dropped!!! Come smoke up 🔥🔥”

---

8. How Your Klaviyo Flows Should Sound

Welcome Flow (tone: warm, refined, inviting):

“Welcome to your new second-home. Here’s everything waiting for you inside the Cannibisters community.”

Back-in-Stock Flow (tone: subtle, premium):

“An old favourite has returned. Thought you’d want first notice.”

New Arrivals Flow (tone: modern & curated):

“Fresh drops, freshly stocked. A closer look at what’s new in the Club this week.”

Advent/Seasonal Promotions (tone: playful but elegant):

“24 days, 24 surprises — your daily drop is ready to unwrap.”

9. Visual Direction for Klaviyo

Although this isn’t copy, it’s essential for brand cohesion.

- Clean black, gold, and cream palette
- Ample spacing
- Premium product photography
- Subtle animated elements (if used, keep elegant)
- Keep layouts balanced and uncluttered — like the Cannibisters physical space

10. Email Signature Guidelines

Always sign off as:

Warm regards,
The Cannibisters Team

No names unless needed for support.
